

Mailbox Garden

Do you want the best-looking mailbox on your street? Want to beautify a lamppost? Choose this compact perennial garden—a half circle with a 3 ½' radius. Guaranteed to thrive and flower year after year, even in neglected spots. Two gardens are perfect for a full circle around your lamppost or other lawn ornaments. Does best in full sun. Garden plans can be rearranged easily to suit your yard.

- A. 6 Creeping Phlox or Candytuft
- B. 3 Kim's Knee High Coneflower
- C. 3 Lavender or Laurentia 'Starshine Blue'
- D. 1 Mme Jules Correvon Clematis

This collection includes:

A. Candytuft (Iberis sempervirens) or Creeping Phlox (Phlox subulata) (6), Attractive, trailing groundcovers that are green year round and offer spring flowers.

B. Kim's Knee High Coneflower (Echinacea)(3), These long-blooming, daisylike flowers sport pink petals with deep maroon centers. Ideal in the flower garden or for naturalizing!

C. Lavender or Laurentia 'Starshine Blue' (3), The heavenly scent is only half of the beautiful story! You also get striking royal purple blossoms and silver-green foliage—all in one hardy, fast-growing plant. Laurentia offers an even more low maintenance plant with a longer bloom time.

D. Mme Jules Correvon Clematis (1), This clematis quickly covers fences, trellises, and walls in a sea of vibrant colorful flowers.

- A. Japanese Holly Fern (Cyrtomium falcatum) (3), If you have a shaded area that is begging to become a quiet, graceful beauty then these ferns will do the trick..
- B. Lenten Rose (Helleborus sp.) (1), These unusual flowers bring interest to the early spring garden.
- C. Asiatic/ Tiger Lily (Lilium asiaticum) (10), Would you like a tall, easy-to-grow flower that doesn't need to be dug up when cold weather arrives?
- D. Calla Lily (Zantedeschia sp.) These tall lilies are stately and the spotted foliage adds interest when the blossoms have been cut and brought inside.
- E. False Spirea (Astilbe sp.) (3), You'll love the big plumes of showy blossoms.
- F. Blue Angel Hosta (1), A giant in your garden!.
- G. Patriot Hosta (1), Hostas are an ideal shade-loving ground cover.
- H. Hosta Francee (1), Hosta are an ideal shade-loving ground cover.
- I. Columbine (Aquilegia) (3), Unusual blossoms are the harbinger of spring.
- J. Johnny Jump Ups (Viola) (3), These shade tolerant baby pansies are intermittent bloomers, but only available in the fall for purchase.
- K. Foamflower (Tiarella sp.) (6), Delicate puffy flowers arise in spring above streaked foliage.
- L. Lungwort (Pulmonaria) (3), Decorative leafed, low-growing perennial is loaded with bright blue flowers..
- M. Coral Bells (Heuchera)(3), Count on cheerful visits from the butterflies and hummingbirds!