

Purple Explosion Lilyturf

Low maintenance.

Liriope muscari 'Purple Explosion'

- Use: A versatile evergreen that forms a tight clump of dense, narrow, green foliage that are the perfect complement to the explosion of deep purple flower spikes in the fall. This exceptionally profuse flowering variety is sensational for use in mass plantings as groundcover, lining pathways, or edging perennial and shrub borders. Well-suited for containers.
- Exposure/Soil: Full sun– part sun. Drought tolerant once established. Needs at least 3 hours afternoon sun for good leaf coloring.
- Growth: Moderate growing; reaches 8 to 12 in. tall, spreading to 8 in. wide. Mow down with lawnmower to 3” tall in February for a clean look.
- Hardiness: Zone 5-11; Perennial
- Foliage: Evergreen. It has dark green foliage.
- Flower: Dark purple spikes of tiny flower form in the summer.
