

Red Lady Lenten Rose

Helleborus orientalis 'Red Lady'

- Use: This exquisite rich red Lenten Rose will instantly create cheerful bliss as it awakens in late winter. From the Lady Series, the outward facing blooms grow in clusters above the leathery deep green foliage. Beloved by shade gardeners everywhere for thick evergreen leaves and winter blossoms in the shade. Excellent in drifts in woodland gardens.
- Exposure/Soil: Part sun-shade. Moist, well-drained soil, but not soggy. Good drainage is a must.
- Growth: Grows 18" tall and wide; multiplies well.
- Hardiness: Zone 4-8; Perennial
- Foliage: Evergreen, virtually problem free. Older leaves can be cut back in late August to showcase winter blossoms better.
- Flower: Pretty, pendent or outward-facing, saucer-shaped, flowers from February to April. Hybrid in colors ranging from wine red to red-violet

A must for color in the winter garden.
