

Satsuma Owari Madarin Tree

- * Seedless Fruit
- * Cold Tolerant
- * Insect and Disease Resistant

Citrus reticulata 'Owari Satsuma'

- Use: Easy to care for and provides excellent Mandarin oranges. The succulent, sweet fruit ripens in late December and stores well. It's not only delicious, but also healthy...and even peels easily. You won't find another orange anywhere that is easier to peel or less messy to eat. It's especially great for kids who can manage the orange themselves with no fuss or muss.
- Exposure/Soil: Full sun. Water regularly, when top 3 in. of soil is dry. Always hungry citrus need a lot of fertilizer.
- Growth: Even though it can reach 7-10 feet in height, it can easily grow in a container if you prefer, and handle any pruning necessary to keep it a preferred shape and size.
- Hardiness: Zone 8-11; Must be grown indoors in winter
- Foliage: Evergreen, glossy green foliage.
- Flower: Its flowers are a delicate white bloom, and their fragrance will carry easily to the bees and butterflies who will love to stop by for a visit.
- Fruit: Nothing can compare to that zesty, sugary sweet flavor. It's an experience like no other, and the Owari Satsuma is the best Mandarin tree to bring that experience to your own backyard.
