

Monstera Philodendron

Great as a specimen on patio
or a houseplant!
Great for cleaning
the air in your home!

Monstera deliciosa

- Use: Great for on a patio or semi shady location outside. Also can be used as a houseplant. The Split Leafed Philodendron is known for its tropical oversized leaves with what appears to be cuts within them.
- Exposure/Soil: Split-leaf philodendron grows in filtered bright light in its natural habitat in tropical Central America. As a houseplant, it needs bright light but not direct sunlight. Filtered light or semi-shade with bright light are needed for it to thrive. Let the soil dry slightly before watering, and do not water-log the soil or let it sit in a soggy state for long. Mist between watering times, and keep the moss-covered support moist to provide optimal moisture. Use slow release fertilizer.
- Growth: Grows 2-3' tall and wide, larger with age.
- Hardiness: Houseplant, must bring inside in the winter or when temps go below 45 degrees.
- Foliage: Likes to be misted if possible. Its glossy cut-out leaves are a large as 18 inches wide on 12-inch-long stalks.
- Flower: None
