

Daylily 'Grape Ripples'

Can withstand heat and drought, and insects better than most perennials!

Hemerocallis 'Grape Ripples'

- Use: The daylily is a popular perennial revered for its reliability, ease of growth and beauty. In midsummer, 'Grape Ripples' offers fragrant rich purple flowers with pale green throats. They are day-blooming and arise from robust clumps of green strap-like leaves that are evergreen in southern zones.
- Exposure/Soil: Full– part sun (but must be 5-6 hours of afternoon sun) . Moist, well-drained soil, but not soggy. Use slow release fertilizer two times a year. Once established needs only occasional water.
- Growth: Fast-growing and when in bloom, this mid-size clumper reaches 20-24" tall and 18-24"wide. Plants do not usually require dividing for several years, but are easily split apart in fall or early spring.
- Hardiness: Zone 3-10; Perennial
- Foliage: Deciduous. The mounding strap like foliage adds a textural element to the garden when not in bloom. Cut back dead foliage in late fall or winter.
- Flower: Average flower size 5 inches; this daylily will rebloom under favorable conditions; growing season is Midseason; Repeat blooming. Diploid. Remove faded flower stalks for best blooming.
