

Heaven Scent Jacob's Ladder

This easy-to-grow perennial looks great in the middle to front of the flower border. It easily mixes with most other garden plants. Though most Polemoniums prefer afternoon shade, 'Heaven Scent' seems to be able to take a bit more sun than the others as long as a good supply of moisture is available.

Polemonium x 'Heaven Scent'

- Use: This lovely Polemonium with nice clean foliage is the perfect accent for hostas. It forms a mound of green, fern-like foliage with deep purple highlights from spring into summer. The foliage grows about 1' tall and is topped by loose clusters of lightly fragrant, blue flowers in late spring.
- Exposure/Soil: Prefers part shade morning sun being best. Follow a regular watering schedule during the first growing season to establish a deep, extensive root system. For a neat appearance, remove old foliage before new leaves emerge. Divide clumps every 2 to 3 years in early spring.
- Growth: Foliage mounds 18-24" tall and 15-18" wide.
- Hardiness: Perennial; Zone 3-7 (Needs good site in cool afternoon shade to survive our hot summers in zone 8)
- Foliage: Deciduous. The leaflets form opposite pairs along the stems giving a ladder effect hence the common name of Jacob's Ladder.
- Flower: Fragrant blue flowers are larger than other blue species Jacob's Ladder.
