

Little Lamb Lamb's Ears

We love the strength and versatility of this plant. They really add texture and color to the garden! Shorter flower stalks offer a better finish than the standard. Ideal for a ground-cover or smaller gardens.

Stachys byzantina "Balstaclamb" PP35738

- Use: Velvety-soft, greenish-silver leafy plant stays compact and is great for edging, border gardens and containers. Pair with grasses and purple or blue flowers for a pop in the garden. Garden visitors, especially children, will enjoy the soft feel of the foliage. An excellent low-maintenance option for edging a path, or as a low border planting. Drought tolerant once established.
- Exposure/Soil: Sun-part shade(6+ hours sun at least though). Moist, well-drained soil, but not soggy. Use slow release fertilizer two times a year. Water regularly, when top 3 in. of soil is dry. Watering under foliage is best as they dislike wet leaves and sprinklers.
- Growth: Quickly reaches 2-5 in. tall, gradually spreading to form a dense mat of 12-15".
- Hardiness: Zone 4a-8b; Perennial
- Foliage: Semi-evergreen; 4 inch long velvety, chartreuse, soft, lamb's ear-shaped leaves with tiny white hairs
- Flower: Not known for flowers, but a light lilac flowers arise on stalks..
