Plant Natives

Calycanthus 'Simply Scentsational'

- Use: The nicest smelling native on the market! Simply Scentsational® calycanthus is the result of thousands of sniffs and we're proud to say this is the most intriguing scent you'll find in any garden. Debate amongst your friends and relatives whether it's melon, banana, strawberry, or even Juicy Fruit gum that your nose is picking up. And while you're at it, you can admire its gorgeous velvety magnolia-like flowers.
- Exposure/Soil: Sun or shade. Highly adaptable to many soil types and grows in sun or shade, though it blooms more when grown in full sun. Native from Virginia to Florida.
- Growth: Grows 6'tall and 4-5' wide.
- Hardiness: Zone 4a-9b, Shrub
- Foliage: Deciduous; Glossy, aromatic, leathery, dark-green foliage matures to a golden yellow in autumn.
- Flower: It is the calycanthus that actually lives up to - maybe even exceeds - the oft-described (but seldom smelt!) hints of pineapple and bubblegum in the fragrance. Blooms of this North American native are an intriguing deep maroon and appear in abundance through late spring and summer. The blooms are powerfully fragrant, even when they are wilted - you've really just got to smell it for yourself.
