

Soul Fire Dawn Redwood

Use it as an accent in a mixed border or a focal specimen in any garden space for months of color and a gorgeous backdrop to flowering shrubs. Dawn redwoods are also good for urban sites where temperature and soil moisture extremes can often be extreme.

Metasequoia glyptostroboides 'Soul Fire' PP32580

- Use: This new gold needled redwood has extraordinary spring, summer and fall color that will light up any garden space. Each spring, bright, lime-green needles emerge with a rosy-orange frosting, making for a two-toned effect. As the summer days grow longer, and the heat and humidity pick up, the needles change to bright, chartreuse and don't fade until fall brings on a bright, orange hue. Perfect in a line along the property perimeter.
- Exposure/Soil: Prefers full sun to part sun. Very adaptable to all soils once established. Can withstand both moderate flooding and drought.
- Growth: Reaches 20-25' tall by 10-15' wide.
- Hardiness: Zones 4-9; Tree
- Foliage: Deciduous. Soft fern-like gold foliage that tends to not burn in full sun. In spring, the needles emerge nearly chartreuse-yellow, hold their color well into summer, then turn orange brown in fall before dropping. Deeply fissured bark provides winter interest.
- Flower: No noticeable flowers. Monoecious (has both sexes on same tree); male racemes, female solitary.
